

The Boys' Brigade

Disability Advice Network

Roles of the Advisers

- ❑ To be a source of information and support to BB companies and individuals in a given area. The role of an adviser will be to:
 - give information
 - raise awareness
 - develop and make accessible resource material for companies and individuals

- ❑ To communicate and promote the existence and purpose of the network *

- ❑ To liaise with Brigade Training Officers and Regional Headquarters about the training needs of the membership regarding disability and access issues *

- ❑ To develop and share best practice in companies *

- ❑ To develop links with other agencies as appropriate, locally and nationally

- ❑ To produce resources and guidelines for companies to enable them to improve access to children and young people with disabilities

Karen Jay
17th December 2002